

ROOSEVELT TO MAKE TOUR OF KENTUCKY

But Won't Appear in Richmond, As Local Democrats Want to Have Gov. Cox Later

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic candidate for Vice President, will make a two-day whirlwind campaign through Kentucky on October 1 and 2. He is booked for no less than 13 speeches on those two days, one of them being the monster mass-meeting in Louisville on the night of October 1. He will not appear in Richmond, as it is hoped to have Governor Cox speak here in October.

His first stop in this state will be at Mt. Sterling, where he is due at 7:41 in the morning. After the rally there he goes to Winchester where the meeting is scheduled for 12:45 in the afternoon. From there he goes to Lexington at 1:30 o'clock and after addressing the democrats in the capital of the Blue Grass, he leaves in time to reach Louisville at 8:25 that night.

From the Louisville meeting he will be taken back to his private car and during the night hauled down to Guthrie, where he arrives at 7:55 o'clock in the morning of October 2. After an address there he rushed across the country by motor to Hopkinsville, leaving there at 10:05 for Nortonville. At the latter place he will make a rear platform speech moving on to Madisonville at 11:28 o'clock.

At Madisonville he will make another rear platform speech and then moves on to Henderson.

A 45-minute stop there will be followed by a jump to Owensboro which draws a speaking of like length. From Owensboro Roosevelt goes to Central City where he arrives at 5:39 o'clock. From Central City he moves to Russellville where he is booked to speak at 7:35 that night.

This might be considered a full day's work by some but the speakers' bureau has decreed that there is no rest for him except when everybody else sleeps. He leaves Russellville at 9:11 o'clock that night for Bowling Green. He arrives in Bowling Green at 10:18 o'clock for a 40 minute speech. This winds up his Kentucky campaigning.

The first half of Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart's speaking dates for Kentucky has been completed and start her out on a campaign for Gov. James M. Cox, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Senator J. C. W. Beckham that will end late in October on the Pacific Coast.

Mrs. Stewart has been so much in demand both in Kentucky and in the nation that the State is to be congratulated on having landed the major portion of her assignments.

On September 24, she opens at Mt. Sterling. The next afternoon, she speaks at Franklin, and that night at Russellville. On Monday afternoon, the 27th, Mrs. Stewart speaks at Mayfield, and that night she goes to Fulton for an address. After that she jumps over to Indianapolis to fill a date for the National Committee, and will return to Kentucky October 4. From then until the close of the campaign she will speak in the West, being booked for twenty speeches.

Another big card for Kentucky will be Secretary of Labor Wilson who appears in Covington on Friday. Secretary Wilson has an interesting career. Starting as a coal miner, he worked himself up by sheer force of ability. He was so highly regarded by laboring men of all connections that President Wilson placed him in his cabinet.

Mrs. Izzetta Jewell Brown is in Lexington on Wednesday, Frankfort on Thursday; Owensboro Friday afternoon; Henderson Friday night and Hopkinsville Saturday night.

WILL MAKE NO CHANGE IN THE FORD MOTOR CARS

Official information from headquarters of the Ford Motor Company is to the effect that the rumor regarding a new model car, which has been going the rounds of the press, is false, and the statement is refuted by information emanating from local dealers also, who state they have been notified officially that there will be no new model launched and there is none under consideration at the present time. While there may be minor changes from time to time, the 1920-1921 production figures are based on the present car. The local representatives of the Ford Motor Company give out information to the effect that there are no changes contemplated.

HAGGARD TRIAL BEGINS IN CLARK

Winchester, Ky., Sept. 23—With six jurors accepted, the case of Rodney Haggard, charged with the murder of Ben W. Good, was resumed today. The sheriff was ordered to summon a venire of 100 men.

Winchester, Ky., Sept. 23—The capacity of the circuit court room was taxed Wednesday morning when the case against Rodney Haggard, charged with the murder of Ben Good, was called for trial.

Good was murdered on Main street Friday night, August 27, having been shot three times by Haggard after he had been knocked to the ground. No words were passed.

Since the indictment was returned a week ago, Haggard has been confined in the Fayette county jail. During the interim he was under a special bailiff. The defendant has refrained from issuing a statement. He appeared in the court room somewhat pale, but apparently undisturbed by the charge against him.

Both side announced ready and the selection of a jury was begun. Mrs. Nancy Haggard, wife of the defendant, was not in the court room. She had withdrawn her suit for divorce, which was dismissed yesterday without prejudice by Judge Shackelford.

Because of his relation to the Haggard family, Commonwealth's Attorney Ben A. Crutcher is not taking any part in the prosecution. John R. Allen and Maury Kemper, of Lexington, County Attorney H. H. Moore, and R. C. Oldham are representing the Commonwealth. Attorneys for the defense are Benton and Davis, J. M. Stevenson, J. Smith Hays, Sr., and G. P. Wycoff.

PRICES SLASHED BY BIGGEST FIRMS

Chicago, Sept. 23—Two of the largest mail order houses in the world, Sears, Roebuck & Co. and Montgomery Ward, today announced price cuts from 10 to 20 per cent in many lines of merchandise.

Food stuffs as a whole are not affected, although sugar is quoted at $17.95 per 100 pounds. One company predicted it would drop to as low as $10.00 per 100 after the canning season. Cotton staples led the list with 20 per cent reductions. Clothes, ready-to-wear, shoes, corsets and other items were affected.

SUSPECT IS HELD

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 23—After they found newspaper clippings and a picture relating the Wall street, New York, explosion last Thursday, on his person, a man giving his name as A. O. Perkins, 51, the police today decided to take his Bertillon measurement and photograph and send him to New York.

Perkins was arrested as a vagrant last night. Perkins is reported as saying that he left New York state on September 8.

Gun Victim Refuses To Divulge Assailant

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 23—Chief of Detectives Defferes today declared that Frank Straley "knows who shot him, but would not amplify the statement." Straley is conscious today, but rambled in his talk. He was shot on the porch of his home here Wednesday morning. It is believed he cannot recover.

BIG FREIGHT WRECKED; SEVERAL MEN ARE MISSING

Newport, Ky., Sept. 23—Four men are believed to be buried beneath 26 cars of coal piled up in the wreck of a C. & O. westbound coal train at New Richmond, Ky., 20 miles from Cincinnati.

Charles W. Moore, 25, "no home," is at Speers Hospital, Dayton, Ky., with a dislocated shoulder and leg fractured. He said two men were on the car ahead of him and that two other men got on the train at Foster. No trace of these men has been found according to a message from New Richmond.

The train was carrying 93 cars of coal, when the arch broke on one car. The track was torn up for 400 or 500 feet. Both lines are blocked.

THE old tub and wash board are relics of by-gone days. The electric washer that Douglas and Simmons are demonstrating this week tells the reason why. 230 3

TOBACCO PRICES NOW THE QUESTION

Low Bids Disturbing Producers, Who Admit Much of Crop Has Been Ruined

Tobacco growers in Madison county are learning of the reports of tobacco sales throughout the country at low prices and are considerably disturbed. Their condition is augmented by the critical condition of their product here in various localities. The extensive crop this year, or intended big crop, has necessitated the outlay of much money and the building of additional barns and sheds for its housing. They have been watching the markets closely and are considerably exercised over the sales in some localities, especially the Carolinas.

There is much interest centered upon the big meeting at Lexington on September 30, when there will be a meeting of the delegates to the first business session of the kind by the Burley Growers' Association. Headquarters have been opened there and a number of representatives have been covering the field, feeling out the producers. There has also been a campaign on for membership, which, it is said, has been productive of great results, owing to the unsettled condition of affairs pertaining to tobacco here and elsewhere. The meeting will be productive of reports from the wide area represented by the association, which covers portions of Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio and West Virginia. They will hear the consensus of opinion regarding the disposition of the production this year. There will be other matters pertaining to the perfecting of the big organization, which has been organized in the interest of the grower. The result of prices being offered in the various localities in both this and other states has been that some have decided to curtail the crop next year. Bourbon county in Kentucky is one of them. It may be decided by the growers, who are working hand in hand, to cut out at least 50 per cent of the production.

There is much of the present crop going to waste, it is claimed, for various reasons. Much was cut green, owing to the effect of the rust, and a great quantity has rotted since being placed in the barns. Many have been crowded for room and it is said by some that they crowded the storage houses to such an extent that much of the tobacco had decayed. Other has burned, while others report that the weed was cut too green, and not properly cared for after it had been placed in the sheds.

UNCLE SAM TAKES ESTES IN CHARGE

Recognizing the fact that he was past the serious stage and on road to recovery, George Estes, prisoner in charge of Henry Reed, deputy sheriff of Estill county, when the latter was shot and killed at Irvine on August 20, so Estes says, by Detective Joe Spivy, Uncle Sam removed Estes from the Pattie A. Clay Infirmary, where he has been since the tragedy, and placed him in jail. He will be charged with unlawfully transporting liquor. Estes and Spivy are the only survivors of the affair, and the result of the grand jury examination now on in Estill county is awaited with much interest upon the part of friends of both men.

It is claimed indictments will be returned against both, however, the charge of the government against Estes will be first heard. His will be among the cases to be heard at the regular session of the Federal Court here. Estes adheres to the statement made at the time he was seriously wounded, that Spivy is the man who did the shooting. He has not deviated from this accusation since his incarceration, and his testimony, it is said, will go far towards the conviction of the accused detective.

NEW CHECKBOOKS HERE; Teachers Being Paid

Madison county school teachers are receiving their checks for the past month's work under the new check system recently issued by the State Educational Board. The new check book arrived on time after all and Superintendent Edwards of the county schools, saw to it that no time was lost in having the check filled out, with the result that there is but little delay in the payment of the teachers.

With the exception of schools in some localities, there is a good attendance recorded. This falling off at this time of the year is due, it is said, to the special working permit which is being taken advantage of by many, this being the busy time in the tobacco field. This, however, will soon be at an end when there will be an increase in school attendance generally, it is said.

MAN WITH PISTOL PUTS STOP TO GAME OF CRAPS

Aversion to crap shooting upon the part of Thomas Roberts is said to have been the cause of his alleged dispersing a number of colored men who were engaged in the sport near the southern city limits on Wednesday, and in order to make his order more effective, he is said to have drawn a revolver and fired several shots. There is reason to believe, upon the part of the police, that Robert aimed at one William Blythe, colored. The latter was apprehended and jailed on a charge of shooting craps. He will be among several others to have a hearing in city court Friday night. Roberts was allowed to go on his own recognizance.

SPIVY SUMMONED; GAVE NO EVIDENCE

Detective Joe Spivy, who has been in jail here since Friday, August 20, when he was charged with participating in the gun battle in which two men were killed at Irvine, was taken back to Irvine Wednesday, it is presumed, at the instigation of the Estill county grand jury, which is in session there, however, he was not called upon to testify and was returned to the Madison county jail Wednesday night. He would make no statement regarding the trip nor his day's absence from the city. It is the presumption that the authorities decided he would have to incriminate himself in giving testimony regarding the affair, hence his failure to be called upon to give evidence in the case.

SMITH RETURNED ON MURDER CHARGE

Bill Smith, of Blanchester, who has been in jail here for safe keeping for some time since he was arrested in the vicinity of Blanchester for killing a constable who attempted to arrest him, was returned to Corbin where he will in all probability be summoned before the grand jury. It is claimed Smith shot the officer when the latter approached him and asked him about the alleged unlawful sale of liquor. Smith is said to have answered the officer's query by pulling a revolver and shooting him dead in his tracks. Smith would say nothing of the trouble here, and has held to himself much of the time since being brought here. It is claimed at Blanchester that Smith and a woman were jointly charged with unlawfully disposing of whisky. The woman is said to be still at large.

STUDENT POSSE BRINGS PRISONER

Claim They Got Him In Dormitory Room At Berea College—Captured After Race

A marshal and a posse of students numbering at least a dozen from Berea College, arrived late Wednesday afternoon with a man in custody against whom they cause two charges to be filed of housebreaking, and the prisoner, who gave his name as Frank Riddle, was placed in the Madison county jail.

The members of the party accompanying the prisoner to Richmond, stated they captured him while ransacking one of the rooms in the dormitory there. They asserted individually and collectively, and generally all at once, that they had been missing things from the rooms for some time and had been on watch for the thief for some time and they finally got him, so they told time and again. They stated the man was found in a room occupied by girls, and that he claimed to be a representative of an electric light company and had been sent there to inspect the light system. After the refusal to credit this story, several said, the man broke away and it was only after an exciting chase through the city and into the country that he was captured. While the prisoner was in charge of an official, all participants apparently in the chase, accompanied the man to Richmond, evidently fearful that he would escape. He will be given an examining trial at 9 o'clock Friday morning in county court.

The students claimed the rooms in the dormitory had been ransacked time and again since the beginning of school, and no trace of the intruder could be found until they unexpectedly ran into the stranger in one of the rooms occupied by girl. A number of things have been reported missing they stated, and were unanimous in charging the prisoner with the thefts. The latter, however, had little to say regarding the alleged operations attributed to him. It is said the accused young man is a resident of this city.

SAYS MAT COHEN CAN EXPLAIN EVERYTHING

Charles H. Morris, former Attorney General, lawyer for Mat S. Cohen former Commissioner of Agriculture, answering the criticism of H. E. James State Inspector and Examiner, said that expenses of Mr. Cohen were justified by his obtaining thousands of dollars worth of premiums for the State Fair. Cohen is very ill at the Seelbach Hotel and James' report has not yet been shown him.

Mr. Morris says: The worst that can be said about the charges is that Mr. Cohen may have failed to comply with the law requiring itemized expense accounts to be filed. Some items may have been charged to the Department of Agriculture which should have been paid by the State Fair. On his trips Mr. Cohen collected contributions to premium funds from large dealers and packers. He had to entertain some on his missions. The Auditor does not allow charges for trips, entertaining and numerous expenses entailed in traveling for the state. Yet, in return for a little hospitality perhaps the fair received thousands of dollars in premiums.

The management was liberal in sending passes to the fair to distant contributors. Not one-tenth of the passes sent out by the stateunli d.l.c. passes sent out of the state as a matter of courtesy were ever presented at the fair. It is a difficult matter to squeeze the peculiar expenses incidental to operation of an enterprise like the State Fair into the compass allowed for the conventional expenses of a state official. I have no doubt that Mr. Cohen, when he is physically able will have no trouble in explaining any charges brought against him.

BIG POLICE GRIST

HARDING'S VIEW ON IRISH QUESTION

Marion, Ohio, Sept. 23—Declaring that the Irish problem is not a question for official America, Senator Harding today in a statement said in his opinion the movement for Irish independence would be under the League of Nations subject entirely.

Senator Harding today reiterated that he had no intention of retiring, at least as long as Ohio had a Democratic governor who could name his successor.

MADISON HAS 1 OF 5 SYCAMORE GROVES

American Audubon Society Taking Pictures and Record of Remarkable Trees Here

The remarkable fact that there are but five sycamore groves in America is none the less more or less remarkable than the fact that one of these is in Madison county, located in the immediate vicinity of Boonesboro Beach.

The American Society, which has been paying special attention to the American Audubon Society, has been paying special attention to the trees as well as the birds of the United States during the past five years, and the extraordinary scarcity of the sycamore tree has attracted wide-spread attention.

Dr. Swope, of Cincinnati, an official representative and investigator and recorder, is at Boonesboro in the interest of the society and will remain for a period of ten days for the purpose of studying the trees and there will be an interesting account of them made for the National Society as well as the American organization which has the matter at interest.

Pictures of the grove as well as the individual trees will be taken a record of their growth, condition, etc., will be made. This will be forwarded to Washington for the benefit of officials now at work on the record, as well as for future reference.

The genuine sycamore has an extensive and interesting history. It is said to be of the black mulberry or fig tree and derivatives of Semitic origin. The sycamore or sycamine, as it is known in some countries and in scripture, is said to be found in Egypt and Syria, and is one of the oldest of American known woods, it is said, and was at one time very extensive and valuable. However, in later centuries it has been decreasing its appearance, while it is a well known wood has been so abrupt that there are but five small groves to be found in America is astounding to many.

INVESTIGATE BOOK OF "REPUBLICANISM IN 1920"

Washington, Sept. 23—The Senate investigating committee today ordered a complete investigation of the financing of the book "Republicanism in 1920," published by the Albany, N. Y., Journal. William Barnes, Jr. is at the head of the company. He has been directed to produce the subscription list. Barnes denied he had talked with Republican National Chairman Hays about it. Senator Reed, producing the committee's records, read what purported to be a subscription of $1,000 from John Rockefeller, and $2,500 from J. Leon Ford.
